

Coronary heart disease is considered as one of the most frequent illnesses and the most important cardiovascular disease in developed countries and developing countries and common form of heart disease in Iraq it is one of causes of death in women it is also known as Ischemic heart disease.

Coronary heart disease refers to disease due to decreased blood supply and insufficient delivery of oxygen to the heart muscle.

There are multiple types of coronary heart disease starting from stable angina (demand angina, supply angina) and acute coronary syndrome (myocardial infarction, Non STEMI)